WHALES' LEAPS.

Gigantic Jumps Taken by These Monsters of the l'eep.

"Speaking of jumping," said an old seaman who had been watching some boys playing leapfrog on the sands, "let me tell you of the greatest jump ever seen. It was many years ago, when I was little more than a lad, but I was bow oarsman on a whaleboat belonging to the ship Henry Staples. We had had oad luck for several weeks, when one day we sighted a big whale, and two boats set off in a race to see who could get there first. It was fairly smooth, what the sailors call a white-cap breeze, and our boats fairly flew over the water. Finally, the whale rose not one hundred yards away, heading directly for us. The harpoener stood with his iron all ready to throw, while we grasped our oars nervously, prepared to jump at the word 'stern all,' that nearly always came when a whale was harpooned.
Not a word was spoken, and suddenly a mountain of black appeared; it seemed to shut off the entire horizon.
Up it went until I distinctly saw a seventy-foot whale over twenty feel. seventy-foot whale over twenty feet in the air hovering over us.

"The mate was the first to regain his senses, and gave the command, 'stern all.' Just as we were ready to spring overboard the boat shot back several feet, and the next second the gigantic animal dived into the ocean, just grazing us, having completely passed over the boat in the biggest passed over the boa leap I ever heard of,"

Such gigantic jumps are rare. A similar one was recorded by Dr. Hall, who at the time was a midshipman on the ship Leander. They were ly-ing in the barbor of Bermuda, when all hands were attracted by the appearance of a very large whale that suddenly appeared in the harbor and seemed very much alarmed by the shallow water, floundering about violently. The young midshipman joined a boat's crew that started in pursuit, and just as they were about to strike the whale disappeared, sinking out of sight, leaving a deep whiripool, around which the boat shot. Before it stopped up came the whale, having in all probability struck the bottom, and went into the air like a rocket, "So complete was this enormous leap," says Dr. Hall, "that for an instant we saw him fairly up in the air, The Mariposa is due from the colonies October 17th.

Had the whale taken his leap one minute sooner he would have fallen plump on the boat."

Comparatively few people have seen a large whale, but we can imagine what an object an animal seventy feet long and weighing as many tons would make flying through the air. Within a week of the writing of the present article I was drifting along the shores of Santa Catalina Island, California, when a sixty-foot whale almost cleared the water about a thousand yards from the boat. I was about to ask the boatman what rock ing after having undergone a thor-ough cleaning. it was, when the great head descended and the tail rose into the air as the monster dived.

Mr. Scorsby, the famous whaler, chronicles a number of instances of jumping among whales, some leaving the water completely and rising twen-ty or more feet into the air.

The leaps of this beautiful creature are John's river.
